July 2009

Question: What happens to people who don't know Jesus in the summer?

Answer: The same thing that happens to them the rest of the year. They wrestle with life's issue but do so without thinking to turn to God. They chase the dreams of this life without thinking about the next life. They continue on a path away from an eternity in heaven with Jesus.

This is just a simple reminder that people need Jesus. And this is just a simple reminder that people who know Jesus are the connecting point between Jesus and the people who don't know him. This is just a simple reminder to not take the summer off!

Keep coming to church. You need the weekly refresher of worship with other Christ-followers. The boat and the ball diamond will still be there after church is over. Come Saturday night. Come to early service. Come whenever you can but make sure to continue to worship each week. God deserves your worship.

Keep inviting people to church. The summer series from James is a great opportunity to help your friends discover that the Bible is an incredibly practical book. Invite them to church and then go do something with them. Show them you are interested in their earth life and show God you are interested in their eternal life.

Don't take the summer off! Your friends still need Jesus and you're still the connection!

Wouldn't it be great if there were 600 new believers in our church next year at this time? Heaven would celebrate! So would I!
